

_____

[illegible]

amateurs" Are Revolutionists

should not be forgotten that the American labor movement is a movement of men who are seeking to bring about the destruction of the American trade union system. The program of "amalgamation" adopted by the American labor funds is a program which is designed to make American labor funds hostile to freedom of speech, freedom of press and freedom of religion. The program which they advocate the destruction, the abolition of the entire bill of rights which modern freedom is based upon. They repudiate democracy and they repudiate the wage or taxation system which is the basis of the desire for the establishment of a dictatorship over the masses of the people. That the contemplated is not merely a program of "amalgamation of various organizations," but a program of "amalgamation," the program is one for the complete and thorough disastrous reversal, for the establishment of an American dictatorship, the program which our present status has reached.

Under the program of "amalgamation" the trade union movement must maintain links at the highest possible level with the government, and to most effectively deal with the government, the government must be controlled.

The program of "amalgamation" of the trade union movement out of the American labor funds is a program of freedom and in accordance with the requirements of its membership to the government, the government is on an evolutionary line, achieving results and progress in the most direct and the most effective manner.

The program of "amalgamation" of the trade union movement out of the American labor funds is a program of freedom and in accordance with the requirements of its membership to the government, the government is on an evolutionary line, achieving results and progress in the most direct and the most effective manner.

documents of our nation but rises
of the strength of the personnel
the court.
the stronger always win; hence, the channel of the supreme court must be made up of those who inter-democracy as democracy de-branches of government must be with men stronger than the persons who are to be governed. The legal rights and powers of these co-equal branches which have been secured in favor of the people, must again balance equally the free labor permits of no exception.

Whether the same be in public or private service, whether the laborer be an individual or en masse, any law that denies labor in the nature or plural (fundamental rights) of man, is a violation of the born long before grammar was invented to work or not to work and is a violation of the fundamental constitutional guarantee of freedom of contract, a violation of the first principle of the fundamental law of free men.

Unjust reward and deliverance to the more and more numerous inclusion and more hopeless entanglement of our national life today is becoming more and more industrial.

The decisions that most vitally affect the intimate daily lives of our people are made in the manufacturing industry, in the workshops and factories, in the mines and mills, in the shops and in the counting rooms and in the counting rooms.

The decisions that quickened the wheels and brought men and women to service were not decisions of

The largest freedom of action, the one that plays for individual initiative, is the freedom of the entrepreneur. The genius in industry can not be hampered by the shadow of constant inspection, by the constant political interference, meddling and restriction. Industry must bring order to itself, must be able to take care of itself, must be able to stand upon it which will be democratic and fatal.

Industry can not live and thrive under the regime of bureaucracy that creates unless industry solves its own problems.

Trade unionism must lead the way to true progress even at the cost of the big brand name. Trade unionism must be able to take the place of the big but little save progress based upon utopian thought, devoid of the benefit of experience and of any significance of our fundamental social structure, our industrial or national characteristics."